

Name: _____

Cahal Pech, Belize

In this video, an archaeologist discusses the importance of the current archaeological site of Cahal Pech in Belize. He discusses how archaeologists are turning away from investigating larger sites to look at smaller sites.

Take Notes to Answer the following questions:

Questions	Notes
Why are archaeologists turning away from investigating larger sites to look at smaller sites?
What do these smaller sites tell archaeologists about the civilization?
Why is Cahal Pech so valuable?

Now explore the site some more! Click on “Image Gallery” to look at some of the artifacts they have found. Sketch one or two on the back with a note about what it may have been used for!